

JAMES REDPATH

AMALS SECRETARY – A MANIFESTO

1st Year ‘Floppy-Haired’ Classicist

EXPERIENCED

I have experience in administration and liaison. I have overseen charity projects, taking responsibility for budgets, communicating with local businesses and councillors, and making effective use of social media. My employers, i2i, have invited me back to work with them next summer.

I was a Senior Prefect and involved in tutoring and music lessons at school, all of which required careful organisation and management.

DEDICATED

I am involved in a breadth of college activities, including, but not limited to: Football, Chapel Choir, performance at a Music Society concert, the Fresher’s play and an intercollegiate quiz. I intend to further intensify my participation this term.

I am well-acquainted with the range of societies and sports teams at Peterhouse, their contributions to college life and the diversity of challenges that can arise in their running. I am therefore excellently suited to effectively mediating and communicating with them.

INNOVATIVE

I will liaise with the Fresher’s rep to ensure that next year’s students have a fuller knowledge of how to set up societies

I will take efforts to publicise the activities and achievements of our fantastic societies.

I will make access to information about AMALS’ activities, societies’ meeting times and committee members more readily available to members of the college.

TEAM PLAYER

I will work closely with the other members of the AMALS committee, whoever they may be.

At present, I am the only candidate for an AMALS position involved extensively in college music and drama as well as sport. I will be a ‘balancing influence’.
